RE: Submitting Annual Dangerous Waste Reports to the Department of Ecology

Dear Ms Byers-Eddy,

The purpose of this letter is to inform you that the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) Site listed below falls under the regulatory authority of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) rather than the Washington State Department of Ecology (Ecology). Our data systems show that this site falls within the boundaries of an Indian Reservation. In the State of Washington, EPA regulates all RCRA sites and issues RCRA Site Identification Numbers (ID #) for all RCRA sites within the boundaries of Indian reservations, with the exception of the Puyallup Indian Reservation. RCRA sites on "non-trust lands" within the exterior boundaries of the Puyallup Indian Reservation fall under Ecology's regulatory authority and EPA retains jurisdiction over trust lands and over Indians and Indian activities on non-trust lands.

The ID# listed below is active in both EPA's and Ecology's database system; this is an error that may have subjected this site to the double reporting of Biennial Hazardous Waste Reports to EPA and Annual Dangerous Wastes Reports to Ecology.

In order to correct this oversight, EPA and Ecology have jointly decided to withdraw (make inactive) the RCRA Site ID# listed below from the Ecology database system TurboWaste.Net. However, the number will remain active in EPA's database system RCRAInfo and the site will continue to be subject to EPA's Biennial Hazardous Waste reporting requirements. No further action is required by you at this time.
